

. . . ARRESTING HUMAN INTELLIGENCE . . .

malcolm enright

—Corporation Of One

Strategic & Creative Facilitation • Digital Design & Realisation • Style & Image Consultant

Arresting human intelligence springs from Malcolm's concern in the mid 1980's that designers were too close to the hand that fed them. After leaving Schofield Sherbon Baker in 1985 he repositioned the rest of his creative life as a corporation of one where he saw himself partnering with owners and stake-holders to change force the brief (first) and then to challenge the enterprise to become more aware of the customer, rather than to replicate the mistakes of the past.

After dropping the word design from his vocabulary he went on to distinguish his brand of communication as 'Brain Invasion' as opposed to the 'Mental Insemination' used in the industry.

After 16 years of projects all emanating from word of mouth, most introducing him to new opportunities, he now finds himself working with other like-minded consultants who have created a 'Co-operation Of One' entity to share the load and increase the learning paradigm.
